WPA PROJECTS HOLD SPOTLIGHT AT CONVENTION

Antioch Delegates Return from Illinois Municipal League Conclave

More than 4,000 applications for federal grants in WPA projects have been filed by Illinois municipalities. It was learned by the Antioch delegates to the 22nd annual state convention of the Illinois Municipal League which convened for three days at Quincy last week.

The WPA was one of the chief topics discussed at the meeting which was attended by Mayor George B. Bartlett and Trustees Walter I. Scott and Fred Hawkins.

It was pointed out that all federal projects, by provisions of the WPA act, must be completed by June 15, 1936. This gives rise to the problem as to whether all such projects can be finished before the deadline.

The example of the Antioch Township high school's improvement work under the WPA was mentioned when the government funds were depleted leaving the high school authorities to figure out ways and means of completing the work themselves. Some communities may be left "holding the bag" if work on the WPA projects is not finished by June 15, various delegates declared.

A government official in explaining the mechanics of the WPA said all workmen employed on the federal projects must have been on relief rolls last May. President Roosevelt has the final word even after projects are approved by state and federal boards as it is the presidential policy to favor localities having the most unemployment as shown by relief rolls. Many applications have already received the presidential veto because of this federal policy, the government representative said.

Nusser, a member of the Cook County Republican central committee; Herbert Auw, Chicago Attorney; Nicholas Robinson, Jr., secretary of committee; Charles Hacker, representative of the state Republican headquarters; Tom E. Houston, member of the state central committee; Congressman Ralph E. Church of Evanston; Howard L. Scott, county recorder and campaign manager for Stratton in this district last year.

Fifty-eight Patients Attend Chest Clinic

The monthly chest clinic, sponsored by the Lake County Tuberculosis Association, is making its influence felt throughout the entire Lake county. At the September clinic eleven towns were represented and a total of fifty-eight patients were examined, eleven of these being new cases.

The Tuberculosis Association offers its service to every portion of the county. The examinations are given free of charge to anyone who is not free of charge to a private physician or who is unable to pay for such an examination.

These clinics are held monthly every third Wednesday at St. Theresa Hospital in Waukegan. Clinic hours are from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Because of the large numbers attending clinic, it is necessary to make an appointment for an examination. Such appointments may be made by calling at the office of the Association, third floor of the Court House, or by telephoning Majestic 1805.

Christmas Seals sold at Thanksgiving time provide the funds to carry on this and other phases of the work.

Miss Grace Drom, Mrs. Robert Wilton, Mrs. Freda Wertz, Mrs. Clara Westlake, Miss Fannie Westlake, Mrs. Monte Hinton and William Anderson attended Matrons and Patrons night of the Lake Forest Chapter, Monday night. Mrs. Hinton filled the office of conductress and Mr. Anderson served as treasurer.

Mrs. P. E. Ohlin spent Tuesday evening in Kenosha the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Jahans, who has been very ill. Mrs. Jahans is 64 years old.

Aurora Borealis Sets Heavens Aglow While Baer Secs Satellites

Although these celestial fireworks—the aurora borealis—put on an act for the Lakes region Tuesday night with a combination of diffused and corona type of aurora, Max Baer, ex-champion heavyweight fighter of the world, has his own theory about these lights.

The Lakes region display, starting about 10 o'clock, may or may not have been caused by those extraordinary discharges by the Brown "Em-bomber" Joe Louis' left mitt in pounding a knockout over Baer about a half-hour earlier. A great variety of theories have been advanced for the aurora, but aside from Baer's opinion, most recent ones regard it as some form of electrical discharge.

Astronomy gents declare the electric impulses from the sun by ionizing the earth's atmosphere so that it discharges the lights as a cathode ray, is indirectly responsible. Max, however, is convinced somewhat that the lights really resulted from too many lefts to his chin too many times too often in too short a time—or something!

BULLETIN LISTS HEALTH RULES FOR FALL AND WINTER

What the average individual can do to keep healthy during the Fall and Winter is told in a bulletin issued today by the Medical Committee of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association.

Rules listed by the association for cold weather health are as follows:

1. Go to your doctor for a physical examination. Beginning ailments may be detected while there is opportunity for early correction.
2. Eat fats, starches and sugars, for body heat, but do not neglect fresh and cooked vegetables and fruits for minerals, vitamins and roughage.
3. Do not "go stale" through lack of exercise. Physical activity for the normal person is just as essential in winter as summer.
4. Get some sunshine, not strained through glass windows, but directly.
5. Avoid coughs and sneezers, as they spread disease germs. If you catch a cold, do not neglect it.
6. Sleep at least eight hours in every twenty-four. Drink approximately two quarts of liquid daily.
7. Be moderate in all things. Disease germs more readily attack the over-tired, the over-fed and the under-washed.

Croquet Experts Fight Furiously For Championship

Investigation of healthy looking noises in the northern part of the village of Antioch Wednesday night disclosed a hotly contested battle in the croqueting (not croqueting) championship of Antioch Township on the Panowski grounds. The team of Bert A. Ray and Jim Webb finally emerged victorious over Joe Panowski and Howard Gaston, and have issued a blanket challenge to all comers to dispute their claim to the title. Those in the know explain that the art of croqueting is a game in which two or more individuals endeavor to drive wooden balls by means of mallets through a series of hoops or arches set in the ground.

Mrs. Vera Reuther returned home Wednesday after a weeks vacation spent with relatives and friends in Chicago.

ANTIOCH MEN TOLD NEW BUSINESS ERA LOOMS FOR NATION

James Stiles, Jr., Explains Present Economic Con- ditions at Men's Club

The United States is on the threshold of a firm business era never before witnessed!

This was the essence of the message given by James F. Stiles, Jr., vice-president of the Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago, at the first meeting this year of the Antioch Men's club Monday night which was held in the Methodist church.

The speaker, whose subject was "Present Economic Conditions," pointed out that the conscientious businessman is emerging from the depression with the smoke screens of inflated prosperity booms brushed aside. He was forced to return to solid business principles to survive the depression which has resulted in preparing himself for the opportunities which are "knocking at his door every morning."

Up to individual.

By special efforts and hard work on his own behalf, the present-day businessman will be rewarded with more than his share of financial returns, Mr. Stiles explained. Just how much people make of the daily opportunities is dependent on the amount of effort the individual exerts, he said.

Believing that confidence in themselves as well as their government is essential toward individual betterment, the speaker dwelt on the "real roll clients" of the state and nation long enough to say that something has to be done toward rehabilitating the pride of these people.

Held Membership Drive

Between now and the next regular meeting, October 21, a concentrated effort is to be made by the Antioch Men's club to increase its membership. Application blanks for membership are available for the asking and can be secured from Otto S. Klass, chairman of the membership committee, or Ralph E. Clabaugh, the club's secretary.

The purpose of the club is to promote community betterment and to create interest in important current events and conditions through competent speakers who are regarded as authorities on the topics discussed. An effort is being made to present Bob Becker, well-known sportsman and authority on fishing, hunting, dogs, etc., next meeting.

The organization is non-sectarian and non-partisan and all men of the community are eligible for membership. A dinner, with the discussion by a competent speaker, will be held monthly from September to April, at various places in the community. Officers of the Men's club are: president, Dr. G. W. Jensen; secretary, Ralph E. Clabaugh; treasurer, Virgil B. Felton.

After three secret ballots by the board members in which Lester H. Ball of North Chicago and W. H. Slinder of Libertyville were eliminated as applicants, the roll call gave Anderson 19 votes to 11 for B. P. Thacker of Waukegan. It is uncertain whether the new surveyor will have an office in the county building as it is not a fee or salary position. Anderson makes his home at 262 E. Deerpath ave., Lake Forest.

3 Scholarships Will Be Awarded at High School

An incentive to high scholastic effort is offered to high school students in Lake County with the announcement that Lladley Scholarships are to be awarded each year to the fourteen high school students in Lake County who make the best records. These scholarships provide four-year courses in a state institution of learning.

In the past it has been the practice to award those scholarships to eighth grade graduates who make the best records but inasmuch as these students were unable to use them until after they had completed their high school courses the state law has just been amended to make the awards in high school students instead. Three of the scholarships, awarded to the scholars, will go to under the arrangement, will go to Waukegan Township high school students. The rest will be divided among other high schools in the county.

ANTIOCH UNVEILS TWELFTH ANNUAL FAIR NEXT WEEK

Entries Pour in; Huge En- tertainment Program Is Booked

Lake County's outstanding three-day fair—the Antioch County Fair—unveils its twelfth annual edition one week from today, Thursday, October 3, and will continue through Friday and Saturday at the Antioch Township high school grounds and buildings.

More than the big interest shown last year is being evidenced this year in both the exhibits and concessions, reports Emmet King of Wadsworth, secretary of the fair association. "Entries are pouring in for all divisions and there is every assurance that when the exhibits are in place next Thursday morning, the Fair will record its largest list of exhibitors in its twelve years of existence."

Entertainment Galore!

In conjunction with the exhibits, the fair officials have provided many free features for the general public. Band concerts by the high school musical organization, under the direction of Hans Von Holwede, are to be heard twice daily, together with special selections for the Skokie Valley Boys, who have been featured over radio station WLS.

Another highlight in the entertainment is Frank's Trained Animal circus which will likewise be produced for the afternoon as well as the evening spectators. This organization presents a unique act in which stunts are demonstrated by dogs, goats and pigs. It is a trained animal act that is entirely different in this particular type of entertainment.

Style Shows Featured.

Prevailing modes in misses and women's wear for every occasion will be presented at a special style show by Marie-Anne of Antioch during the Friday night performances. Special showing of practical woolen and silk dresses for street and afternoon wear, dresses for street and afternoon wear, knit dresses are all scheduled to appear during the show.

The style show has been an extremely popular feature at the fair and will again feature a style show for the male population in which Otto S. Klass, proprietor of Antioch's men's store, will provide "living male models in the flesh" for the occasion.

To Show Antioch History

The pupils of the Antioch Grade school promise to have an extremely interesting display when they present the early history of Antioch. The children have been making an intense study of Antioch's early history and are interviewing the early pioneering residents still residing in the community for first-hand information. Among the many items in this exhibit will be the naming of Antioch; the first place of business; the establishment of the post office; the first school; the first religious meeting; the first settlers; a collection of early photographs, etc.

Thursday will be entry day, the fair officials explain. Judging of exhibits will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The poultry and pigeons and dairy cattle classes entries close Saturday, September 28. Admission to the fair will be 25 cents for adults and there will be a charge for the day and one for the evening. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

Exhibitors pay an annual fee of one dollar which entitles them to a free season pass for admission to the fair at any time and also the opportunity to exhibit up to ten entries in the various classes.

A. F. B. Board Votes to Support AAA Law in Supreme Court Test

At its recent monthly meeting in Chicago, the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation passed a resolution authorizing its general counsel, Donald Kirkpatrick, to file a brief as a friend of the court supporting the constitutionality of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Word to this effect was received by the Lake County Farm Bureau from the Illinois Agricultural Association which is highly interested in the coming decision of the Supreme Court in the test case expected to come up in the October term.

With the permission of the Court, Mr. Kirkpatrick will begin work shortly on the brief which will present argument as to why the act should be upheld.

Millions of Meteors

It is estimated that millions of meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every 24 hours; most of them are very small. They travel, however, at a high rate of speed, and were it not for the protection afforded by the earth's atmosphere they might prove a serious menace. Because of the terrific speed at which they move, according to a writer in the Washington Star, meteors are heated to incandescence by the resistance and friction of the air and all but a few of exceptionally large size are completely disintegrated. Very large meteors, or meteorites, as they are called if they fall to the earth's surface, occasionally cause death.

William Tell Story Liked

Whether the accounts of the heroic deeds of William Tell be based on actual facts or mere tradition, it is a story which is still read and retold with enthusiasm in every Swiss school and every Swiss home. A dignified monument to the gallant archer of Burglen, near Altdorf stands in the latter village, but the most beautiful of all tributes to this pioneer champion of Swiss liberty is to be found at Tödi Plate, between Bruggen and Fluden, on the spot where Tell leaped ashore from the boat in which he was being carried off as a prisoner by Gessler.

"Dead Man's Shadow"
Legend Still Exists

Langeville, Ohio.—The strange legend of the "Dead Man's Shadow" continues to exist here despite scoffing skeptics. Unbelievers have only to look upon the weird evidence—and doubt invariably assails them, believers in the tale assert.

According to the legend, a stranger walking along a highway near here was struck and killed by a speeding automobile several years ago. His body was placed on a concrete sidewalk near the scene of the accident pending arrival of an ambulance.

When the body was removed, a vague shadow of the exact proportions of the victim remained, leg-end has it.

Some time later, workmen poured a thick layer of additional concrete over that particular section of the sidewalk. It is said.

But the shadow reappeared, so say the superstitious.

Trim Zoo Animals' Toenails

Animals of zoo exhibits have to have their toenails cut, the reason being that they do not get enough exercise to keep the nails sufficiently worn down, and if the nail or claw were allowed to grow it would in time turn inward and lacerate the flesh. This operation is rarely an easy task for the keepers, but it is part of their daily work and must be done.

Rally Day and Promotional Day will be observed by the Methodist Church School next Sunday, September 29, beginning at 9:30 A. M. Dr. Percy R. Hayward says, "Rally Day is a symbol of Human Life." Life has its high and low periods, its periods of despair and likewise its times of inner renewal, and spiritual exaltation, and high resolution. It is the purpose of Rally Day to touch the scattered interests of those who have been on vacations, reminding them that the church and its teaching ministry again call them to their spiritual duties and obligations. Help us observe the day by attending services next Sunday morning.

Walter W. Head, prominent business man of New York, President of the Boy Scout Organization of America, and now chairman of the National Committee for Religion and Welfare Recovery, in a statement issued from the Committee's New York headquarters concerning Loyalty Days, which will be observed all over the country on October 5th and 6th, in an attempt to enlist all of America's 62,035,633 church members in active service for organized religion in the coming year said, "The deepest need of America today is for a method of convincing our citizens that character is the keystone of our twentieth century state." And in his talk Monday night to the Antioch Men's Civic Club, the speaker, James Stiles, Jr., Vice President of Abbott's Laboratories, said that the task that lies ahead of us today that is of greatest importance is to give the average man encouragement and revitalize his hope and faith. In other words give him more backbone.

The observance of Loyalty Days, October 5th and 6th, is planned with that in mind.

Use Loyalty stamps on your correspondence, put Loyalty stickers on your car windows or the windows of your home, invite your friends to go to church with you and help us keep the motto or slogan of the program, "Every Member Present or Accounted For."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 20.

The Golden Text was, "We are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (II Cor. 5:20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon are the following from the Bible: "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us. Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God" (Hebrews 12:1, 2).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If Truth is overcoming error in your daily walk and conversation, you continually say, 'I have fought a good fight. I have kept the faith, because you are a better man. This is having our part in the at-one-ment with Truth and Love' (p. 21).

AMUSEMENTS

JACK BENNY SEES NEW DEVELOPMENT IN SCREEN SHOWS

Greater interchange of stars between talking screen and radio is to the next great development in the field of entertainment, according to Jack Benny, famous radio star who returned to the screen for the starring role in "Broadway Melody of 1936," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's musical extravaganza which opens a four day engagement starting at 11 p. m., Saturday at the Kenosha Theatre.

"When the screen first started to draw on radio for stars," he says, "the experiment was not a success, because the right methods were not employed. Radio performers were put on the screen in the same characters and with the same ideas they used on the air. In other words, they brought nothing to the screen but their radio names. And it takes more than that."

"Screen players who came to radio to broadcast dramatic sketches first showed the radio star what to do in pictures. The success on the air of Frank Morgan, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore and others can be traced to the fact that they departed from their screen characters and went into revisions of standard stage plays. They thus presented themselves to radio audiences as actors, playing characters, entirely aside from anything that they had to do with their work in pictures. In other words, they proved that they could qualify as entertainers in each medium."

"I believe this interchange of stars is to be a great thing for both radio and pictures. And, personally, I welcome the chance to work in both because of the better perspective it affords in both jobs," concludes Benny.

Eleanor Powell, Robert Taylor, June Knight, Una Merkel, Sid Silvers, Frances Langford, Harry Stockwell, Nick Long Jr., Buddy and Wilma Eason and Robert Wildhack are also to be seen in the music directed by Roy Del Ruth.

Mrs. William Grube, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lubkeman and Fred Lubkeman returned home Monday from a two weeks visit with relatives and friends at Hampton, Colter and Latimer, Iowa.

ANCIENT SKULL IS FOUND IN NEBRASKA

Said to Prove Antiquity of Man in America.

Washington.—The "second cousins" of the famous Neanderthal men—those half-ape, half-human beings that preceded mankind in Europe—once may have roamed the Nebraska plains.

After an exhaustive study of an Indian skull fragment found in the midwest state, Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, curator of physical anthropology of the Smithsonian Institution, said it had decided Neanderthal characteristics, although obviously of fairly recent origin.

The fragment was discovered by Earl H. Bell of the University of Nebraska while excavating in a large mound of undetermined age near the site of a prehistoric Indian village.

The skull fragment coupled with the recently found Folsom arrowhead points proves conclusively that the American before Columbus extended back for thousands if not tens of thousands of years. The Folsom points are distinctly American in character and date from the early glacial period approximately the same time as that of the skull fragment.

Dr. Hrdlicka found that the skull fragment had belonged to a middle-aged male Indian and was normal except in one abnormality. It had large bony ridges over the eyes, one of the prominent characteristics of the true Neanderthal skull and those of great apes. These ridges have virtually disappeared in modern mankind.

In the Nebraska Indian skull the ridges were pronounced and about half as prominent as those of the Neanderthal as compared with modern man, the anthropologist said.

Dr. Hrdlicka stressed that the skull did not indicate that Neanderthal men actually lived in America, but rather that there was some sort of ancestral connection between prehistoric Americans and Neanderthals somewhere outside America.

"We are justified in regarding such occurrences as resemblances, more or less, of early stages in the evolution of the human skull, but not as interrupted connections, and especially not as a safe index of the antiquity of the specimens that show such characters," Dr. Hrdlicka wrote in a report on the skull for the American Journal of Physical Anthropology.

Use "Courtesy Titles" The custom is for the oldest son of a peer, or the rank of duke, marquess, earl, or viscount, to use, as a "courtesy title," one of his father's inferior titles. In the case of a duke, second and other sons are also known by their courtesy title of "Lord," followed by their Christian name and surname. "Courtesy titles" are not hereditary.

UNEARTH ANCIENT CAPITAL IN SYRIA

Uncover Noteworthy Art Dating Back to 1100 B. C.

Chicago.—Discovery of the ruins of a local capital of the Syrian-Hittite world that flourished from 1100 B. C. to the invasion of Alexander the Great in the Fourth century B. C., was announced by the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

Dr. C. W. McEwan, field director of the Institute's Syrian expedition, who recently returned to this country, reported the discovery. A royal palace already has been uncovered in the mound of north Syria, about midway between Alexandria and Aleppo.

The most interesting angle found at the diggings was that of a double-lion column base—two crouching lions whose backs supported a column at the entrance to the palace. Dr. McEwan said it is one of the finest examples of Hittite art yet found.

"The Syrian-Hittite culture was a composite of Hittite, Aramean, Phoenician and Assyrian elements," Dr. McEwan said. "The discovery of a capital of this people will bring new light to bear on a most interesting period."

According to Dr. McEwan, a native foreman of the expedition which has been excavating two other mounds in the vicinity, was riding into Antioch, 25 miles away, when he noticed two carefully cut blocks of basalt in the deep ditch beside the road.

He recognized them as important clues. When members of the expedition investigated, they found huge column bases of a type characteristic of royal buildings of the late Hittite period.

It then was discovered that natives of a nearby little village had been digging into the mound for the ancient burned bricks which the natives used in repairing their highways.

Vienna Sees Joke in American "Shorts" War

Vienna.—The whole controversy about "shorts" for men in England and America causes a merry laugh in Austria.

A pair of shorts, one of linen for midsummer and one of deer skin for cooler days, are and have been an essential part of an Austrian male's wardrobe for years.

It's nothing unusual to see a pair of uncovered legs sauntering down one of Vienna's principal boulevards. Nobody stares, nobody laughs; it's taken for granted you can wear shorts in town if you wish.

In the country on Sundays 80 per cent of the men wear leather or linen shorts, an open shirt, and no hat. The man who wears more is stared at.

Perhaps it's only honest to say that shorts are a sort of national Austrian costume for men. They originated in the mountainous Tyrol, where the peasants wore deer skin shorts before they knew pants or trousers existed.

When the Austrian man goes swimming he wears a lot less than enough to get him arrested in the States. He has long ago abandoned the simple trunks (once considered very daring in the United States) and wears only a loin cloth. Ten yards away he seems stark naked. There is considerable naked bathing in the Danube, but the police discourage it. It's often hard for the police to distinguish whether the bathers are naked or not.

The Book of Sports

The Book of Sports was a popular name for the proclamation issued in 1534 by James I, and ordered to be read in all churches, wherein it was declared that dancing, archery, May games, morrice-dances, leaping, vaulting and other such games were lawful on Sunday, but prohibiting bear-baiting, bowling and interludes.

"Ethiopia" From Greek

The name Ethiopia is from the Greek, meaning land of the burnt-face people. From earliest times it was used by classical Greek writers to refer to all lands inhabited by dark-skinned people. Abyssinia is derived from the Arabic word "Habasha," meaning confusion and has come to connote monstrosity.

"The Alhambra"

"The Alhambra," by Washington Irving, grew out of the experiences and studies of Irving while an actual resident in the old royal palace of the Moors at Granada. Many of the sketches have their foundation only in the author's fancy, but others are veritable history.

Derivation of Word "Puny"

The word "puny" is a phonetic spelling of the old French "puisse," which entered the English language in legal phraseology. "Puisse" meant junior, lower in rank. "Puny" has acquired the meaning of small in strength or size, weak, feeble.

Power of "Hen and Chickens"

Hen and Chickens, the old-fashioned plant known as Houseleek, was once thought to possess the power to ward off lightning.

Nicknames

Jerry is a nickname for Gerald. Usually it is a nickname for Jeremiah, and when used as a nickname for Gerald, it is spelled Jerry.

Salads Give Zest to the Menu

Newer knowledge of nutrition has added much to the enjoyment of luncheons and dinners by bringing salads to the fore.

One needs so little to make a salad—that is, you can make a salad out of almost anything—a simple or an elaborate as you like.

Salads, for the most part, appeal both to the eye and the appetite.

Cottage Cheese Salad

1 pound cottage cheese
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 bunch button radishes
1 medium sized cucumber
2 bunch green onions
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons pepper
Paprika
1/2 cup salted almonds

Lettuce

Cream cheese and add Mayonnaise.

Slice radishes without paring them.

Paro cucumber and dice. Use the white and tender green portion of the onion, peel, and cut in slices. Toss the vegetables lightly to mix them.

Add the seasonings and the vegetable mixture to the cheese. Chill thoroughly and serve on crisp leaves of lettuce; sprinkle with paprika and garnish with salted almonds.

Luncheon Salad

Lettuce

American cheese

2 hard cooked eggs

Radishes

Cream cheese

Minced parsley

French dressing

Arrange beds of lettuce on salad plate and cover with radish roses.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY FRANCES WEEDMAN

Director National Electric Cooking Institute

Granted that fish hauled in on hubble's own hook and line are endowed with a certain inimitable differentness—that is, if sunburn, patience, and effort have anything to say about it—almost anyone can eat fish, "catcher" and other details unknown, and still like it! Of course, however, the fish must be fresh, it must be scrupulously cleaned, it must be exquisitely cooked before it obtains the successful triumph of a real fish story.

cooked into this broiler pan as the excess fats drain into a covered pan where they will not smoke or catch fire. In the second place, the fat which does drain into the pan washes off, slick as a whistle, so you see that grease splatters don't get to first base with this miracle broiler and oven.

But why waste even a little energy cleaning up after a fish-bowl,

It is safe to place brown paper under fish when broiling in an electric range.

Many homemakers used to listen with displeasure to the family's outburst of "We want broiled fish!"

Not that broiling fish was difficult or that it took too long, but it always branded the broiler with "fishy" splatters and odors. Then along came the modern electric range—the miracle electric range of 1935—with a whole "show" of magic cooking feats! Among other things, broiling was included on its program in its newest, most accomplished, most breath-taking form.

Modern Broiler Pan

For example, just fancy being able to broil fish and other "broilable" foods without having the food leave the telltale, besplattered broiler oven, and smoky, grease-filled broiler pan. Removing stains from this oven is hardly any trouble at all because the hard, smooth enameled walls are easily accessible for quick cleaning. Removing "tracks" from the broiler pan, too, is likewise a simple task. In the first place, stains cannot be charred or easy as it is in the Miracle Broiler, when a better, easier way presents itself. Fish may be placed on brown paper—a "bib," if you please—and broiled in the miracle broiler without giving the fire department one bit of business. The paper catches the drippings while the fish turns brown and crispy, and the steady, unvarying heat of the controlled electric embers isn't even tempted to swallow up a corner of the paper. No smoke, no fish odors, no broiler to soak and scour—only the best broiled fish you ever served will be your culinary reward.

Broiled Fish

This, then, is the electric way to broil fish, be it trout, white fish, halibut steaks or what have you. Cover the smokeless broiler pan with brown paper. Lay fish on the brown paper over the broiler pan, season and spread with melted butter. Heat upper unit of electric oven until cherry red. Place broiler pan with fish upon it under unit and broil about 20 minutes. Serve with sliced lemon.

Salted Apple with Rolled Oats

Paro and core sweet apples. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Cool but not chill. Serve an apple for each portion surrounded by hot oatmeal, with cream and sugar, or it sugar is used when baking apple, it is not required with the porridge.

Oatmeal Cakes with Bacon

2 cups cooked oatmeal

1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning

1/2 cup grated onion

1 teaspoon minced parsley

1/2 teaspoon pepper

Cornmeal or bread crumbs

Bacon

Blend the seasonings with the oatmeal, add a few crumbs of bread if very soft and form into flat round cakes. Roll in cornmeal or bread crumbs and cook in the bacon fat left in the pan after the bacon itself has been cooked, turning the cakes to brown both sides. Serve with a slice of bacon over each cake.

1/2 pound nippy cheese, diced

6 sweet pickles

1/2 cup mayonnaise

2 beets

Salt

Pepper

Lettuce

Combine ingredients in order given. Toss lightly and serve on lettuce.

Alternate slices of marinated cucumber and onion, placed on a bed of shredded lettuce, with a grated egg yolk center, make an attractive, tasty salad.

Oatmeal with Fried Apple

3 large cooking apples

Cooked rolled oats or oatmeal

Brown sugar

Thin cream

Core and slice, but do not peel the apples and cook slowly until tender in a little butter or other shortening, sprinkling with brown sugar during the cooking—this will melt and form a caramel. Transfer to a serving dish and pile well cooked oatmeal or rolled oats on the slices of apple, pouring light cream and a little additional sugar over.

T-Bone Steak Cooked In Wine—Um-m!

Chef Gesell, Hotel New Yorker has delicious recipe.

ANYONE who enjoys a T-bone steak will welcome the recipe listed below, a favorite of Jacques Gesell, famous chef at the Hotel New Yorker in New York City.

Gesell, who was born in France, is a master not only in the art of preparing French and American dishes but also Italian, English, German and Russian as well. His apprenticeship was spent working under famous chefs in Lunoville, Paris, Rheims, Brussels and Antwerp.

Housewives who wish to surprise their families with a T-bone steak which will have exclamations of praise and delight will do well to copy Chef Gesell's recipe, shown below. Addition of domestic wine is one of the principal reasons for the delicious flavor of the steak, says Gesell.

T-BONE STEAK AU ROUGE

2 lb. T-bone steak

2 tablespoons butter

2 tablespoons chopped shallots

1 cup domestic red wine

Salt and pepper to taste

Season the steak until well browned on both sides. Season with salt and pepper. Add the butter and shallots. Allow to cook for 3 minutes. Add the wine and cook for 3 more minutes. Serve the remaining juice as a sauce over the steak.

Ideal Children

The boy most popular among his mates is he who is most cheerful and exuberant, the leader in games and sports, and untried of adults, according to research of a scientist. The popular girl, on the other hand, is the one who is neat, pretty and not necessarily a leader. The "ideal" girl must conform to adult standards.

EVEN the warmest July has some cold, drizzly days—when you and the family simply get a craving for a warm dessert.

Blueberry Puff Pudding is delicious and satisfying.

Blueberry Puff Pudding

2 cups blueberries; 2 cups all-purpose flour; 1/2 cup water; 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

1/2 cup sifted cake flour; 6 tablespoons sugar; 2 eggs yolk, beaten until thick and lemon-colored; 2 egg whites; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar.

Bring to a boil blueberries, apples, and water. Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, and salt; add gradually to fruit mixture and boil briskly 1 minute. Add lemon juice. Pour into greased baking dish and keep hot.

Sift flour once and measure. Add sugar gradually to egg yolks, beating until light. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy; add cream of tartar and beat until stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Fold egg yolk mixture into egg whites; then fold in flour, a small amount at a time. Turn out over hot tapioca fruit mixture. Bake in moderate oven (325°F.) 50 minutes, or until cake is baked. Serve warm. Serves 3.

Mix to a very light dough with the beaten egg and milk, turn into a shallow greased baking pan, sprinkle with the brown sugar and dot with the butter. Bake in a moderately hot oven—375 degrees F.—about 35 minutes. If preferred, raisins or dates may be substituted for the cherries.

A FEW summers ago I discovered that our family was consuming entirely too many iced drinks for its own good, so I worked out this really delicious chocolate syrup that can be added to milk. (Or poured over ice cream.) I usually make two or three batches a week and keep it covered in the refrigerator ready for use. Of course, the boys love it (I discovered where whole pints of it disappeared after a few scout rallies at our house).

Chocolate Syrup

4 or 5 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 cup sugar; 2/3 cup hot water; 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten.

Melt chocolate over hot water; cool to lukewarm. Add sugar to water, stirring until sugar is dissolved; cool to lukewarm. Add syrup to egg yolks, about one-fourth at a time, beating well after each addition; add chocolate in the same way. Then continue heating mixture 1 minute, or until slightly thickened. Turn into jar, cover tightly and place in refrigerator. Syrup can be kept for several days. Use 2 tablespoons chocolate syrup for 1 cup milk. Makes 2 cups syrup.

DROP "3 R" SYSTEM IN INDIAN SCHOOLS

New Deal in Education Is Based on Real Needs.

Tucson, Ariz.—The "Little Red Schoolhouse" in its strictest sense, is on the way out among northeastern Arizona's Indians.

A "new deal" program calls for abandonment of strict schooling, compulsory attendance and outlined curricula. In place of the "three R's" the Indians will be taught subjects of more practical application to their mode of living, such as soil erosion, sewing, weaving, fertilization, sheep dipping and shearing, feeding live stock and kindred subjects.

News of the government's change of policy was brought here by Dr. John H. Provins, assistant professor of archeology at University of Arizona, who spent six weeks recently in "the land nobody wants."

Retain Culture.
"Probably the only tribes in either New Mexico or Arizona that have retained their culture," Doctor Provins said, "are the Pueblo Indians, with the Hopi tribe as the most outstanding."

"The Hopi never have had lands anyone wanted, so they have been able to keep a high integration among themselves. Some of the New Mexico Pueblo people have become completely Mexicanized, but the rest of this is the Mexicans after whom they have patterned and into whose social scheme they have fitted themselves are of the peon class. The Indians' own culture was of a far higher standard."

"The government's program of education under the New Deal is, however, a sensible and direct approach to changing the whole Indian life pattern. Books have been dispensed with temporarily, as will the boarding schools as time goes on."

"The system is to erect the school, probably with Indian labor, put in the benches and desks, but leave the actual arrangement to the students. Then the subjects to be taught will be given by demonstration methods closely akin to their own way of doing things by actual participation rather than learning about it from books."

Practical Subjects.
"They will be taught soil erosion, sewing, weaving, protection of moisture in the soil, fertilization, sheep dipping and shearing, feeding of live stock and every other subject that is in direct relation to their tribal lives."

"There will be no compulsory attendance and there will be no age limits. Old and young may go and there will be no grades, only groups. Divisions into groups will be by interests."

"The 'new deal' plan of teaching the Indians, many educators here believed, will permit the tribes to remain to a large extent their native culture and traditions, while, at the same time, instructing them in modern methods of doing the things they have done for countless centuries."

At the same time, gradually, the Indians may be moulded into the modern American pattern of life, but not with the loss of their own distinctive culture, it is believed.

Menu for a Walrus Is Flashed to Wild Arctic

New York.—Capt. Bob Bartlett in the Arctic paging Doctor Daeol.

Or so it seemed at amateur radio station W2GON, operated by J. E. Preston at North Arlington, N. J.

A message from Bartlett aboard his explorer, the S. S. Morrissey, to Dr. William Field Blair, of the New York zoological park, read:

"I have baby walrus on board which I want to bring to you. Little devil won't drink milk. Can't get him to eat. Can you suggest method of feeding?"

Then the reply:

"Feed baby walrus shredded codfish six times a day. Mash fish and serve in small quantities. Increase until he takes four or five pounds a day."

Capt. B: "Little devil perking up; likes codfish."

Dr. B: "Might vary diet with soft-shelled clams."

Capt. B: "He eats clams, shells and all."

Dr. B: "Take off the shells."

New! Fur Coat and Woolen Ensemble

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS THRILLING events which are casting their shadows before us an entirely new type of ensemble which works dress and lining of smart woolen in conjunction with coats of hand-sewn fur into the 'nth degree of swank.

Watch the excitement when once the college girl glimpses this sort of costume which is entirely new in the field. It's this way, the woollens for fall are absolutely irresistible. Yielding to the lure of the perfectly fascinating new wool weaves and sensing untold possibilities in their use manufacturers of fur coats are playing up the idea of lining their garments with gay plaids and checks or a novelty woolen of some sort or other.

To be explicit, the new costume scheme, which is taking the world of fashion by storm, lines a chic fur coat with the same stunning woolen as makes the dress or skirt, with matching skirt that completes the ensemble. As soon as the first chilly autumn winds blow you will see this type of costume crowding the landscape for daytime wear in town, in country, on campus, in the grandstand or for travel whether you go by train, boat, auto or airplane.

The coats may be hip length, fingertip length or three-quarter or seven-eighth. Just so it is always somewhat shorter than the accompanying woolen skirt, so that some fraction of the skirt shows below, thus co-ordinating the ensemble even when the coat is buttoned tight and only a scarf, the collar lining or the gilet top shows above the fur.

The coats of these costumes are versatile, although generally speaking they are fashioned on swapper lines. A dashing figure they cut, when left unfastened to fly out "accidentally" on purpose when in motion as to artfully show off their smart gay linings.

Furs of most intriguing type are employed so as to dramatize the picture. Favored pelts include snowflake, nutria, sheared panther, gray or helge kidskin and various spectacular spotted furs.

The illustration presents the new wool-and-fur ensemble idea in two versions selected from any number of equally as fascinating models, as worked by high-style designers. For football weather the costume, as pictured to the left, is sure to satisfy the style aspirations of any co-ed aspirant as ever she may be. This sweater coat of sheared panther is lined with green plaid woolen which is firm of texture yet light in weight. It is identical to that used for the two-piece sports (allure that completes the ensemble. Blown back by the wind, the charm of the costume is enhanced when the coat lining flashes its note of color. The neckline of the tailored suit jacket of wool weave is mannish in line with its notched lapels. The sport hat of smart off-face type is of felt in a dark green to harmonize with the wool plaid of the suit.

The girl standing to the right is ready to step into her open car and drive to the football game, serene in the knowledge that she will be comfortable, plus modish, all day and all evening during the drive home, no matter how suddenly the temperature may drop. For this beautifully styled outfit of supple kidskin is worked on dressmaker lines together with a checked rabbit woolen black and maize for the wrap-around skirt and also as it appears in the lining of the wide flaring collar on the Eton jacket top and as it is glimpsed at the wristline of the bell sleeves. Her cap is of kidskin with a sporty pointed visor down over the forehead at the right side.
